Premium Wash

From the Editor

Wow, I can't believe we have come to that time of year again! The days seem to be flying by this year!

It has been another busy year for the club and for its members with plenty of things to choose from, like Fun Days, Grooming Days, and Training Days just to name a few. Just shows that we are not just about showing dogs, but about bettering our knowledge about our beautiful dogs, and how to take care of them. I hope you managed to get yourself out to some of the things the club put on!

Once again, I have a jam packed Annual Magazine for you to read this year, show-casing our wonderful breed, and celebrating the successes of breeders and owners alike.

Don't miss the interview with this year's National Show, Junior Handler winner, Ethan Barzey-Clark! What an amazing achievement! Congratulations Ethan!

As always, we have show results from throughout the year, as well as photos from those events. We also have a few articles that will be a beneficial read for everyone!

For now, that is all from me! I hope you enjoy 2019's Annual Sleigh Courier!

Have a safe and happy Christmas and New Year!

Presidents Report

I was blown away with the positive feedback received for last year's annual. Thank you for saying how much you enjoyed the read and new look. I hope you enjoy this one as much which captures the Club activities in 2019.

Once again, we have been busy doing our best running the Club, providing activities for our near 60 members, helping any Samoyed or their owner in need and promoting our lovely breed. The new banner further pushes "For the Betterment of the Breed" and while we do not encourage backyard breeding, we are there for any Samoyed and their owner if they need us.

Donations to the SamCare Fund are always welcome.

Next year we will be recognising Samoyeds that have been awarded Canine Good Basics or Canine Good Citizen.

The Club is run by a small group of volunteers. Some sit on the committee and others put up their hands to help where they can. Special thanks must go to the following :

Simeon: Secretary, Treasurer, Webpage and Photography

Anita S: Points, Trophy Steward, Snow Dogs Match, Pet Expo, Grooming and SamCare

Anita N: Pet Expo, Facebook Admin, Calendar, Assistant Trophy Steward, Santa's Grotto and Fun Day

Marie: Santa's Grotto, Pet Parade, Calendar, Pet Expo and Pack Walks

Melissa: Samoyed Day Helper

Others have helped too which is also appreciated as is the sponsorship received for the Samoyed Day from individuals and our now annual product sponsors.

We are trying to encourage breeders and “to be” owners to do the right thing in breeding with only health checked stock and buying from only NZKC registered breeders who health check respectively.

The Club receives numerous enquiries from people wanting a puppy and they are all encouraged to read the information on the webpage and contact the breeders who have a listing with us. Unfortunately, some get their puppy from other breeders and then contact us complaining about how they have been treated and the poor health of their puppy. As NZKC manages the Code of Ethics we ask all complainants to contact NZKC directly but sadly most don't feel they want to go that far having already fallen in love with their puppy or they bought their puppy from a breeder not registered with NZKC. Maybe it is time to start thinking about a Litter Registration Limitation (LRL) scheme for Samoyeds registered with NZKC.

Secretary & Treasurer Reports

The club has had another successful year of operation. The club is solvent and passed the financial audit for the year ending 31 December 2018.

Membership has increased from last year and currently stands at sixty four.

This year the club has again run a lot of events.

A fun day before the AGM. Then at the Samoyed Day event a Pet Parade, Open Show, Junior handler, Annual Awards and Championship Show. The shows were well attended this year. The Pet Parade entries slightly down on last year and the breed show entry of forty three Samoyeds was our best entry for quite a few years.

Then through the year we held five walks in different parts of the Greater Wellington area. The walks continue to be very popular with up to fourteen Samoyeds present at each event.

This year we held the grooming demonstration in May and the dog training seminar in June. The change in dates meant we were able to offer our membership a Samoyed event each month for most of the year.

The Snows Dogs match against the Central Districts Siberian Husky Club was again held in the Horowhenua show grounds.

Club members also ran a stand at Pet Expo and helped at the Special Children's Christmas Party Santa grotto.

Amongst all of this a Samoyed themed calendar for 2020 and an annual magazine were produced.

All in all, a very full year of successful and enjoyable events for our members.

tydee TANGLESS

DAZZLE DOG tydee SHAMPOO

No one likes a coat that is full of knots, snarls and tangles. Getting dry neglected coats back into show condition used to be a nightmare for both animal and groomer. Now there is Tydee Tangless, a totally organic formula that softens, conditions and lubricates (but is 100% oil free) all at the same time. It has lanolin to add lustre and shine and other ingredients to discourage tangles from reforming. Tangless can be used on dry coats or as an after shampoo conditioner, but all shampoo must be rinsed from the coat first. You and your dog will enjoy grooming with Tydee Tangless because it saves time and effort. Tydee Tangless has a creamy smooth texture and is packed in an easy to hold 340 ml bottle with reliable pump sprays.

Nothing looks worse than a white coated dog that is dirty or has a yellow tinge.

That is why we have developed Dazzle Dog, a rich pearlescent shampoo that not only conditions but also contains a revolutionary optical whitener to give animals an outstanding appearance.

It is not a bleach and it will not harm the coat or make it brittle and it is not a blue rinse, the old fashioned way of treated off-white coats.

Dazzle Dog is safe to use pets of all ages.

Just try it and you will see the difference.

SamCare Report

Our Committee have a SamCare program where we help any Samoyed that needs Rescue or Rehoming in the lower North Island, help the other two Samoyed Clubs if required and hold events to educate people on Samoyeds – ie Pet Expo, Grooming Day and Training Day.

We have been lucky over the past few years to rehome Samoyeds that the new owner has paid any expenses, but we need money in the SamCare bank Account because we never know when we will pick-up a Samoyed in bad condition, needs Vet treatment, etc, before we can assess if the dog can be rehomed.

I did a rehome on a Samoyed bitch that I bred. It highlighted a few problems.

You can sell a pup and keep in contact for 2 years, everything appears fine. But when circumstances change, the owner can be too embarrassed to ask for help or can't bear the thought of giving the dog away, so the problem escalates.

This particular bitch didn't like to be groomed, was over-weight and had to move into a place that would not allow dogs.

I took her to the vet for a health check, everything was fine but the vet was quick to list all the health issues that she could get if I didn't get the weight off her. She was 31.8kg !

She stayed with me for 3 weeks, lovely nature, got on with all my dogs, easy to live with but the only time she moved fast was when you dropped food, it was down her throat before you could say 'No' LOL

I found a wonderful home with an old Golden Retriever (who was rehomed and was also over weight) and the two dogs are now best mates! Both dogs are now on on weight management food and go for walks every day.

Two months later, she is down to 28.6kg. New owner says that she is fitter and can now go jogging with her husband. They haven't had any problems grooming her at all!

Grooming Problems

Most Samoyeds will keep moving and take-off after 5 minutes of grooming on the floor. Grooming on a table is best, but you can use a bed, couch, chest freezer etc. Teach the dog to lay down and relax before grooming. Only groom for ½ hour until dog is happy about being groomed. Try to start grooming on a different part of their body each time you groom and give a treat at the end.

I use a comb, I do it slowly so not to hurt them but gets rid of more dead coat.

Grooming Day

The annual Samoyed club grooming day this year was held at the Titahi bay dog training club, the idea for the day is to give hands on advice on grooming and maintaining your Samoyed in great condition.

The dogs enjoyed the session and also the socialisation with the other dogs in attendance.

The session started off with an overview of the Samoyed coat, general grooming tasks and an introduction to common tools and equipment.

The group then asked questions and had one on one sessions to help with any problem areas with their dogs.

It was well worth attending and gave valuable insights on caring for your Samoyed.

Luke Waghorn

Pack Walks

Throughout the year we have had several samoyed walks at various locations.

The first for the year was at Petone beach in Lower Hutt on the 27th of January. We had around 12 dogs present who enjoyed swims in the sea and stream and running on the beach on a lovely day.

The next activity was the samoyed fun day at Wainuiomata with around 6 to seven dogs present. The dogs enjoyed a day of agility and obedience courses and egg and spoon races with owners plus a dress up competition on the 10th of March.

On April the 7th around 10 dogs enjoyed another great sunny day on the beach at Queen Elizabeth Park on the Kapiti Coast. Lots of swimming and running on this beautiful long beach.

Unfortunately our next walk at Melling by the Hutt River on the 10th of August was a little wet and muddy. However the 7 dogs didn't let that spoil their fun running around and swimming in the river. Some dirty but happy dogs to clean up.

The next walk was held on the 6th October and was another lovely sunny day at Spicer Botanical Park. There was a good turnout of around 10 dogs who had a nice climb to the top many of them followed this with a nice dip in the stream.

Our next walk is on the 1st of December at Petone Beach. Flyer with details on Facebook page. I am hoping for a good turnout and a nice day.

These walks are a chance for samoyeds and their owners to get together and share information etc. So if you have a samoyed and live in or near the Wellington region look out for posts on our Facebook page for the next walk. All welcome.

Buying a Pure Bred Dog

What steps can you take to be sure it's a pure bred dog?

Ask for Dogs New Zealand (Dogs NZ) papers...

For the pup if it is registered

For its parents if the pup is not yet registered

Please note that Dogs New Zealand is the only NZ authority for pedigree and registration papers. Beware of 'mail order' documents available from unofficial organisations offshore.

(The Continental Kennel Club, The United Kennel Club)

If people are claiming to be selling a pure bred, what steps can you take to check they are telling the truth?

Insist on papers with the pup at the time of sale. These should be offered at no additional cost.

What kinds of membership/associations with Dogs New Zealand should a dog breeder have, as a starting point for a customer to look for?

Dogs NZ membership and their kennel must be registered: this is the minimum

Dogs NZ Accreditation indicates, special breeder status, strict health checks, reliable support to buyers.

A breeder will normally - but not necessarily be involved with specialist clubs for his/her breed

How can you gain cover under the Consumer Guarantees Act, when buying a pure bred (as opposed to a private sale)? Do reputable breeders sell as a business, or are they private sales?

Canine sport in New Zealand is amateur and no Dogs NZ member is a commercial operator. All puppy sales are private transactions.

Dogs NZ strongly recommends the use of contracts and has a recognised contract available that it encourages its breeders to use. Buyers should insist on a contract.

Some breeders offer joint ownership arrangements that can involve breeder access to the pup for breeding and showing when it is older. Dogs NZ advises non-members against these arrangements which are best left to experienced dog showing enthusiasts who know each other personally. Some are professional dog trainers or operate commercial boarding kennels. These are their businesses are not within the Dogs NZ ambit. Breeding is not a recognised professional activity and all breeders are considered hobbyists.

If people are buying online (ie Trademe), what should they think about?

Favour sellers who are Dogs NZ members

It is preferable to buy from a breeder you have met and whose premises you have visited

Check for cleanliness, health and behaviour of pup, parents, other dogs there

Make your own, assessment of the seller's sincerity, integrity, knowledge

Seek evidence to support all sellers' claims (pure breed, vaccinations, health checks etc)

Seek undertakings from the seller to assist with resolving health or behavioural problems that may emerge in the pup

If you have any doubt about the health or behaviour of a puppy do not buy it

Insist on a sales contract and check it carefully before signing

A reputable and knowledgeable breeder will not separate a pup from its mother before it is at least eight weeks old

A reputable and knowledgeable breeder will brief a buyer on the health of the puppy and on all known health issues particularly relevant to its breed or to which its breed is prone

What traps should they look out for?

False claims as to pedigree and/or health

Pups that display signs of physical or emotional ill health

Pups sold without vaccinations, health records

Sellers whose motive appear commercial vs breeding to improve dogs for showing or sport

Sellers reluctant to allow access to their premises

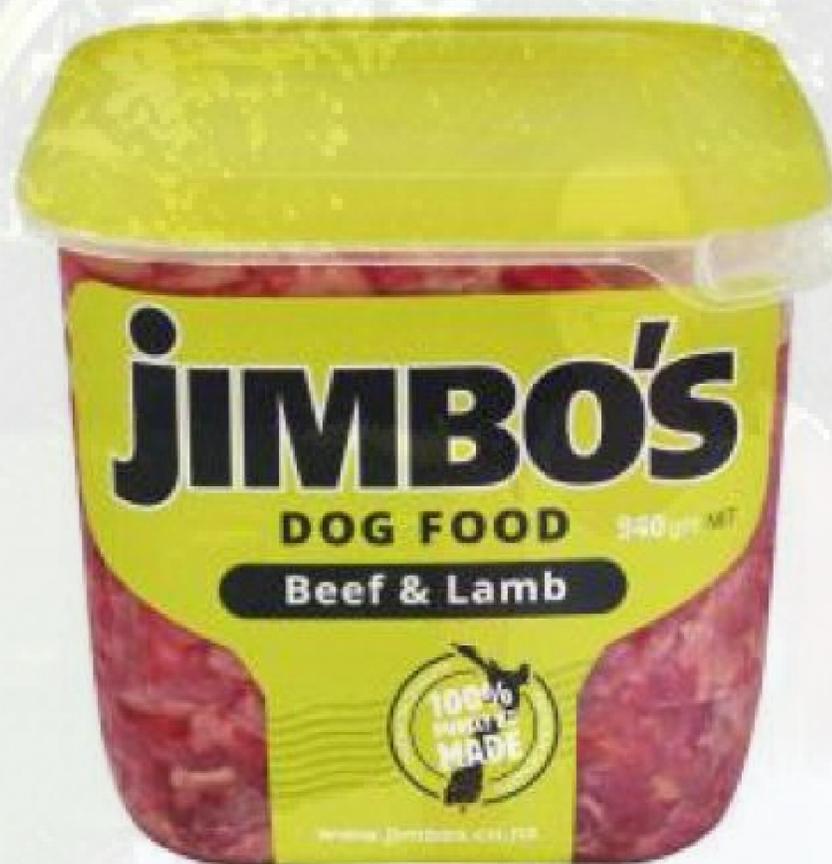

Sellers reluctant to commit to contracts or written undertakings

Sellers reluctant to promise after sales assistance

Do reputable breeders sell on Trademe?

Yes. They may prefer to deal through personal contacts but often cannot find enough suitable buyers so they will use TradeMe.

Remember if you are dealing with a good breeder you will not just be choosing a pup: the breeder will be choosing you and has the same right to withdraw the pup from sale as you have to decide not to buy it.

Junior Handler

Ethan Barzey-Clark

Interview with Ethan

At which show did you qualify to compete at the Nationals?

Wairarapa Kennel Association, November 2018

What was his swap dog

I had a choice between either:

Redi - Supreme Ch & Specialist Grand Ch Oscarbi Everedi Boy;

Lika - Ch Oscarbi Just Like Ya.

I chose Redi.

The Junior Dog Showing competitors don't have to exhibit a "swap" dog like the Junior Handler competitors.

What do you have to do when in the ring?

The most important thing is to listen to what the judge asks you to do and pay attention to your dog all the time. You have to bait the dog and keep his attention on you.

You have to run at a steady pace out and back in a straight line, and come back to stand in front of the judge stacking your dog. We then had to run around the ring in a circle.

What was it like to win junior handler?

It was really exciting and I felt really proud of myself. At the Saturday night show, it was quite tiring as it was late and it was a busy day. But it felt awesome to be running around in the spotlights with the other winners.

What do you like about being a dog handler?

Having some fun with our dogs and bonding with them. Also meeting new friends at the shows.

How long have you been showing Samoyeds for?

I was about 3 and half when I first started in JDS, so almost 5 years.

How did you get into handling?

My Mum and Dad encouraged me to have a go as they have been involved in showing and breeding samoyeds for many years

What are your favourite things about the Samoyed?

They're fluffy! They're cute! and they're adorable!

Training Day

The Samoyed Club hosted a training day at the NZKC in June with Vari from Happy Home Dog Training. Vari started with the Wellington animal charity HUHA and has been providing sensible, effective training tips and techniques to dog owners since 2008.

All seats were full and it was great to see some new faces.

Vari was able to cover a variety of training issues from barking, pulling on the lead, learning to stay and the importance of relax mode. She discussed why dogs have these behaviours - often because they think they're in charge. We need to show them who's boss and remind them, we're here to look after them, not vice versa.

We all came with a pocketful of yummy treats and all asked for help on our own particular issues.

And at the end of the session, every good dog went home with a certificate and we all promised to take what we had learned and practice at home.

Melissa Cross

Obedience Sams

Anita Nearey & Nero

We have been doing Obedience classes with Nero weekly for 8 yrs, and belong to a club.

We have irregularly competed.

We have also done Canine Good citizen and we are working towards Silver award. I find the classes keep their minds active learning new tricks as well as the usual heel work and is good socialisation in a controlled area.

Pet Parade

At The Samoyed Day on the 25th July we had a pet parade. This was a successful event last year and even though we had a few less dogs entered this year it was still a popular event.

The pet parade is a chance for non show dogs or ex show dogs to get their moment in the ring. This year we had seven dogs entered from all different backgrounds. It is also a chance for some younger handlers to show a dog.

Each dog goes around the ring and a commentary is given about the dog eg age where it is from who owns it and any special talents etc.

What always shines through is how much people love their pets.

Anyone wanting to give their pet a moment in the spotlight be sure to enter next years pet parade at the samoyed day July 2020 details are posted on The Samoyed Club Facebook page.

Hip Dysplasia in Dogs

Did you know that hip dysplasia in dogs is one of the most common musculoskeletal problems they experience?

But this fact is pretty much the only straightforward thing about hip dysplasia in dogs — there are no rules.

For example, some dogs have terrible hips on X-ray but never limp, while others have crippling hip pain and yet their radiographs aren't too bad.

1. What Is Hip Dysplasia in Dogs?

Hip dysplasia basically means clunky hip joints.

Instead of a joint that rolls smoothly like oiled ball-bearings, the joint knocks, clunks, catches and pops out of place. This causes rubbing, which leads to inflammation, which causes pain.

This comes down to the shape of the hip joint. A great hip shape consists of:

- * A smooth round ball (the femoral head)
- * And a matching cup in the pelvis (the acetabulum), which fits it to perfection

A dysplastic hip doesn't form properly. Instead of being round, the femoral head is flat or has corners.

It's the wrong shape to fit snugly in the acetabulum and knocks around the edges. Back to that word inflammation ... which equals pain and therefore lameness.

After a while, complications develop. The body tries to remodel the hip to protect it, but instead makes things worse. This is seen on X-ray as arthritic change in the hip joint.

Then there are other consequences of hip dysplasia, such as lax ligaments, stretched joint capsules and chipped joint lining – which all add up to hind leg lameness in dogs.

From here, it's a downhill jog to the misery many people associate with hip dysplasia.

2. What Causes Canine Hip Dysplasia?

What does the word “multifactorial” mean to you?

Think of it terms of watching a football game. You love watching your team, and it takes a lot to spoil the occasion. However, if your seat has an obstructed view, it's pouring down rain and the hotdogs make you sick, this would spoil things.

Likewise, hip dysplasia is multifactorial. This means it takes a combination of factors to cause hip dysplasia to develop. These include:

- * Genetic factors
- * Nutrition
- * Weight
- * Exercise

For example, the single-biggest risk factor is inheriting hip dysplasia genes from the parent dogs. But even then the dog may be fine if they have a good diet, remain slim and don't overexercise in early life.

In other words, the perfect storm for developing hip dysplasia includes being an at-risk breed, overly rapid bone growth, being overweight and being too energetic while those vulnerable joints are still developing.

Of course, things are more complex than this, but the message is that some factors you can't control while others you can.

3. What Are the Signs of Hip Dysplasia in Dogs?

Not all cases present the same way.

A young dog with hip dysplasia won't necessarily be in pain but can't run and jump very well because of mechanical changes in the hip joints, while an older dog who has developed chronic arthritis is more likely to suffer from discomfort.

Clues to hip discomfort include:

Difficulty jumping into the car or going upstairs

Bunny hopping (moving both back legs together)

A swaying hind leg gait

Poor muscle bulk over the hips and thighs

Shifting weight onto the front legs

Hind leg lameness

Reluctance or difficulty getting up

Change in character, such as unusual grumpiness

Of course, bear in mind that hind limb lameness is not specific to hip joints. A dog with a thorn in a back paw will also be lame, and it's nothing to do with their hip.

So don't assume lameness is due to hip dysplasia — to reach a diagnosis requires tests.

4. How to Tell If Your Dog Has Hip Dysplasia

If you suspect there's a problem, please see your veterinarian.

Your vet can tell a lot by watching the dog move and feeling the hips. But to know for sure requires radiography and feeling the legs with the dog anesthetized or deeply sedated.

Now here's a thing: Not all dogs who have badly shaped hips on X-ray have problems. Some cope just fine, and those gronky hips come to light only because radiographs were taken for some other reason.

This is where feeling the hips becomes important:

Certain movement will cause the hips to pop in and out of joint, which means that taking normal steps is tricky.

The vet can mimic these movements with the dog asleep to see if the hips are stable or not.

But here's another thing: Young dogs, typically under 2 years of age, have "lax" joints anyway to allow for growth. So it can be tricky to reach a firm diagnosis in young dogs.

6. Is Hip Dysplasia Curable in Dogs?

No. There is no cure for hip dysplasia.

However, you can surely make a difference.

Remember the old "multifactorial" thing? Well, if you have a German Shepherd and feed them a puppy food for a Yorkie and allow them to get overweight, it pushes the dog toward hip dysplasia.

This is because one-size-fits-all puppy foods are geared to the nutritional needs of those dogs who have the most growing to do quickly — small breeds. Feed these foods to large- or giant-breed pups and it pushes their bones to grow too quickly, leading to poor joint health.

Also, overfeeding a puppy means those tender joints carry too much weight. Again, this leads to overstraining them and an increased risk of damage.

So although you cannot cure hip dysplasia, if you feed a puppy food designed for large-breed growth and keep the puppy slim, it does the dog a big favour.

Likewise, avoid over-stressing the joints with too much exercise:

If the muscles get tired, the dog will move sloppily; there will be a greater chance of damaging the joint lining.

So make sure the pup always keeps a spring in their step, and you won't go wrong.

6. What Is the Best Hip Dysplasia Treatment?

The answer to this question depends on the individual dog:

Mild to Moderate

Mild hip dysplasia requires only judicious use of rest and pain relief as needed. Nutraceuticals also play a part.

The cornerstone of mild to moderate hip dysplasia is using anti-inflammatory and pain relief. These are combined in the non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs). Reducing inflammation lowers the risk of arthritis developing, while the pain relief keeps the dog comfortable.

Some dogs need only occasional pain relief while others need it all the time.

Again, there's no one-size-fits-all.

Severe

For severe cases or where pain relief doesn't help, several options are available for hip dysplasia surgery.

The type of operation varies, depending on the age of the dog and complications such as arthritis. For example, a young pup without arthritis may benefit from changing the angulation of the pelvis, while an older dog with fused hips needs a total hip replacement.

These are specialist surgeries that will be carefully assessed by a veterinary orthopaedic surgeon.

7. What Are the Options for At-Home Treatment?

While no single thing is going to make a big difference, add up lots of little things and this makes a big improvement to your dog's quality of life. For example:

Nutraceuticals: A good-quality supplement containing chondroitin and glucosamine helps to nourish the joints. It promotes a slick, slippery joint fluid, providing better joint lubrication, and it promotes smooth movement.

Diet: Feed those big-breed pups a food designed for large-breed growth. Weight: Learn to body-score your dog, and aim for a score of 4–5 out of 9.

Exercise: Keep the dog moving so as to strengthen the muscles that support the hips. However, don't overtire the dog. Activities such as swimming or hydrotherapy are great because they are non-weight bearing.

Physiotherapy: A consult with a veterinary physiotherapist is worth its weight in gold. They can teach you home exercises to strengthen those vital hip muscles and keep the dog active.

Heat Therapy: Never underestimate the benefit of providing a warm bed to keep the heat in round sore joints. And for those times when the hips are especially sore, warm wheat bags can provide relief.

Alternative Therapies: Consider using a TENS machine on the dog's hips, or using a veterinary acupuncturist.

Investigate Laser Therapy: Use of infrared heat or laser therapy can help reduce pain and discomfort.

Also, keep an eye on the research into stem cell therapy. This is a developing field of veterinary medicine that seems to hold promise.

8. How Long Can a Dog Live With Hip Dysplasia?

Here's that word "multifactorial" once again.

The answer to how long can a dog live with hip dysplasia depends on lots of factors, such as

Age
Complications
Severity
Your budget

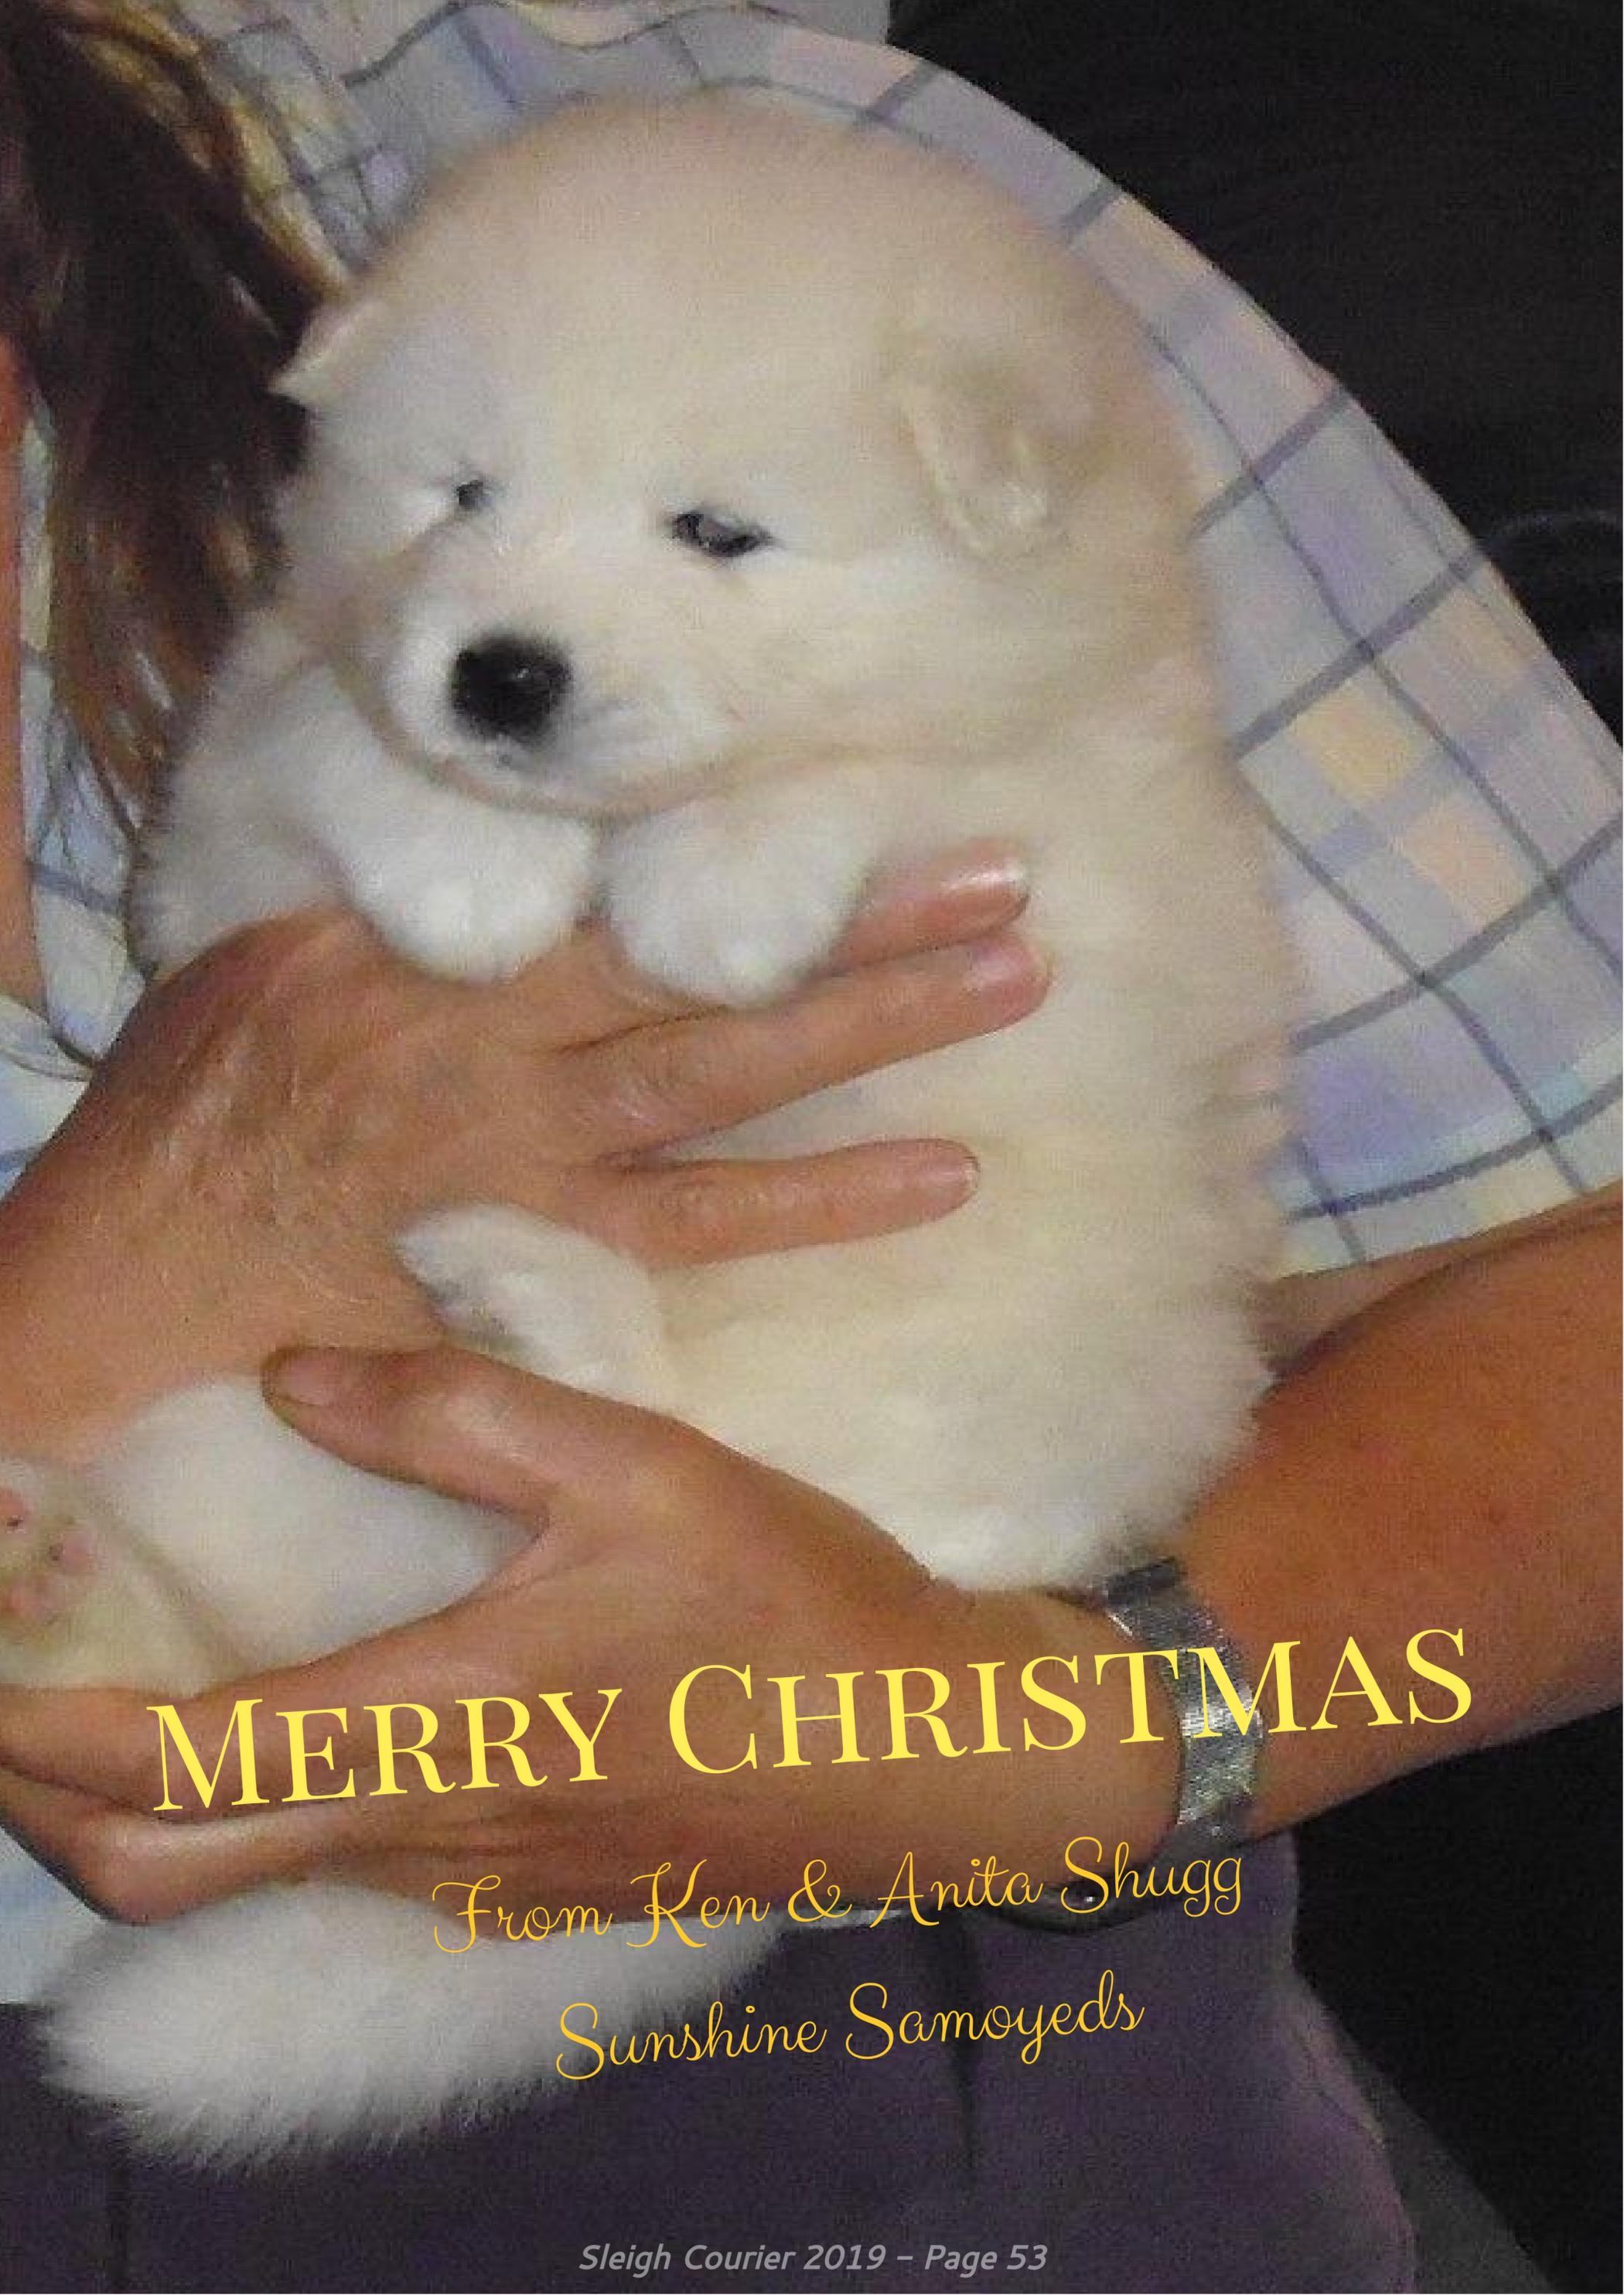

If you can afford hip replacement surgery, even the most severe cases can lead to a normal and full life.

And if a pup is diagnosed with hip dysplasia, if you feed them right, exercise sensibly and give pain relief when necessary, their disease may not progress.

So don't get that sinking feeling. Instead, take control of those factors you can influence, and it could keep your dog on their paws for an active, happy life.

Crossing the Rainbow Bridge

Just this side of heaven is a place called the Rainbow Bridge. When an animal dies that has been especially close to someone here, that pet goes to the Rainbow Bridge. There are meadows and hills for all of our special friends so they can run and play together. There is plenty of food, water and sunshine, and our friends are warm and comfortable. All the animals who had been ill and old are restored to health and vigor. Those who were hurt or maimed are made whole and strong again, just as we remember them in our dreams of days and times gone by.

The animals are happy and content, except for one small thing; they each miss someone very special to them, who had to be left behind. They all run and play together, but the day comes when one suddenly stops and looks into the distance. His bright eyes are intent. His eager body quivers. Suddenly he begins to run from the group, flying over the green grass, his legs carrying him faster and faster.

You have been spotted, and when you and your special friend finally meet, you cling together in joyous reunion, never to be parted again. The happy kisses rain upon your face; your hands again caress the beloved head, and you look once more into the trusting eyes of your pet, so long gone from your life but never absent from your heart.

Then you cross Rainbow Bridge together....
